

Choosing your New School

Starting to look at secondary schools? We give you the lowdown on what to do.

Choosing a secondary school is one of the most important decisions you are going to make because it's likely to have a huge impact on your child's future, way beyond the school gates. There's some essential 'homework' to be done before you make that all important choice and you must make sure you know the deadlines for applying via your local authority.

For some, it won't be an issue, as catchment area rules determine your first or other choices, decided by postcode or feeder school. However, for those of you who can choose, the task can seem a daunting one. To help you through the process, follow our tips for some forward planning and get the most out of a school open day.

Make a Shortlist of Schools

Firstly, make a shortlist of the schools that your child could attend by looking at nearby local authority's websites or visit www.education.gov.uk. Make sure you check their admission rules carefully to ensure your child is eligible for a place. You also need to be happy that your child can travel to school easily and that siblings, if relevant, could go to the same school. After that, it's time to take a look at the facts and figures to make a comparison on paper.

Do Your Homework

It will help if you do some online research of your own. All schools have to have a website. Among other things, this has to include details of the curriculum, admission criteria, behaviour policy, special educational needs policy, disability policy, links to Ofsted reports, links to performance data, the school's latest key stage attainment and progress measures. But the other things on the website may be at least as important. Does the school feel an exciting place to be? Yes schools can be exciting; maybe they've changed a bit since our time. Is there a regular newsletter and is there lots going on? Does whoever writes the website sound enthusiastic about the school? If they're not, you may not be either.

Head to the Open Day

Once you're satisfied with your shortlist and you've done your homework, it's time to do the most important thing of all and visit the schools. Nothing beats going to see the school for yourself, so get the most out of your visit with our tips and ideas.

The grand tour

Most open days will feature a pupil-led tour. Ask lots of questions and you'll hear all sorts of interesting things from your friendly guide that don't feature in the prospectus.

Talk to as many pupils and parents as you can manage on the tour for maximum feedback. Don't forget to take in the atmosphere and environment of the school, to get a feel for whether your child would be happy in these surroundings.

Students in action

As you're on the school tour, observe the children in school, as they will often be a great indicator of a school's ethos. You'll get to see how children treat each other and how they interact within the classroom and corridors. Are they happy? Do they seem confident and animated? Are teachers welcoming and friendly, and are you getting the feeling of a warm, open attitude?

The Head teacher's talk

Don't miss out on the Head teacher's talk, usually given at specified times on open days/evenings. You'll find out what priorities and emphasis the Head gives to various aspects of their school, and will be able to see if these aspirations match your family's own. The Head should come across as genuine, inspiring and bursting with pride for both school and pupils, as well as being very clear about the school's achievements and goals.

Expectations for behaviour

Make sure you query the levels of discipline that are imposed, such as the consequences for late/absent work, unruly behaviour and the uniform code. Feel free to raise serious disciplinary matters such as bullying and how it is handled. The responses should give you a good indication of what is tolerated at the school.

Equal opportunities for all

School should bring out the best in every child. If yours requires additional help in any areas of learning, ask about the support available to enable them to reach their potential. Query how students are monitored to ensure their learning stays on track and they don't 'slip under the radar' and fall behind their peers. Ask about communication systems that are in place to ensure teachers and parents can work together to be a constant support to your child.

Life outside the classroom

Essential learning doesn't just happen in the classroom. Look out for interesting extra-curricular activity posters on the noticeboards. If your child likes sports but isn't an 'A' team candidate, will they still get to participate? If there are after school clubs, check what they are and when they take place.

Peace of mind

The switch to secondary school is a big one and communication will be key. It is important to know how to contact staff if you have a problem or concern. Find out how contact details such as teacher names and emails are provided, and whether the first point of contact should be via telephone or email. It's important to see how easy it is to contact school staff in case of an emergency. Information about good pastoral care should be plentiful as it's an essential ingredient for a happy school life.

It's an open day, so keep an open mind

Remember this is about your child, not you. Try not to be influenced by your own educational experience as it may not be relevant. Find out what your child really thinks and don't hesitate to take advice from trusted teachers who you feel know your child best – you may be surprised by what they tell you. In the end, trust your instincts, find the right environment for them to be happy, then sit back and watch them flourish.

Kingston Grammar School

Kingston Grammar School is a leading independent day school for children age 11-18 in South West London, and one of the most successful co-educational schools in the country. The main points of entry are at 11+, 13+ and 16+. Admission is by selection on academic merit. For all entries there is an examination and interview. For 16+ entry, predicted GCSE grades (or international equivalent) are also considered.

KGS has a long tradition of developing individual talent and encouraging high aspirations. The curriculum is designed to challenge expectations and to engage students in a love of learning. Students are bright and enthusiastic. Their joy in life and spirit of curiosity makes education at the school a real pleasure.

Inspirational teaching and a deep commitment to pastoral care means that students grow in confidence and understanding, and individual talents and creativity are able to flourish. The school has a strong sporting legacy which includes 26 appearances at the Olympic Games and alumni such as Olympic gold medallists James Cracknell OBE and Sophie Hosking MBE.

At KGS their aim is to ensure that all students leave with the right skills and knowledge to ensure their lives are successful and happy. Their pastoral support is underpinned by the Ac Laetari ('Be Happy') wellbeing programme, which encompasses PSHE education in all year groups, tutor time activities and external speakers. KGS are rightly proud of their pastoral provision and it is widely acknowledged to be one of the best in any school in the UK.

An ISI report stated, "The high levels of achievement derive significantly from the impact of a culture of all-round accomplishment for all pupils that is effectively promoted by senior leadership and governors. Pupils are determined to live up to the school motto 'Work well and be happy', and in this they are conspicuously successful."

Book your visit to KGS this autumn. They have an 11+ Information Evening on Thursday 27 September, an Open Day on Saturday 29 September and a Sixth Form Open Evening on Monday 8 October. For more information, please visit www.kgs.org.uk.

Ernest Bevin College

Ernest Bevin College has been named the top British school for Judo following a haul of five medals at the British Schools Judo Championships. The team from Tooting topped the medal table beating over 400 schools with two gold, two silver and one bronze medal.

Members of the squad were rewarded for their hard work and success over the year when they met the Duke of Cambridge and Duke of Sussex at the opening of the new Greenhouse Sports Centre in Central London. The boys also had the opportunity to speak to the Princes and pose for photos at the event attended by 300 guests and supporters of Greenhouse Sports to mark the opening of the new state of the art sport and community centre for young people in London.

Ernest Bevin College is an Ofsted rated 'Outstanding' school for boys aged 11-19 and the college admits both boys and girls into its large and successful Sixth Form. Ernest Bevin specialises in teaching STEM - Science, Technology, Engineering and Maths. It was one of the first schools in the country to be awarded STEM Assured Status which recognises the school's links with universities and employers in providing pathways for its students in these skills shortage areas. For information about the college, please visit www.ernestbevin.london.

Burntwood School

Choosing a new school for your children can be a daunting experience. It is important to make a careful analysis of the breadth of curriculum on offer, whether the school has a good record with regard to examination success and whether progression for the youngsters to Higher Education is the norm. A substantial Sixth Form is important, as it can offer a wider range of subjects and more flexibility of subject choice for a young person.

A good school will also provide a wide range of sporting and extracurricular activities as well as excellent dance, drama and music teaching. It is important that every child is treated as an individual and that the school works in partnership with the parents to encourage the very best from the young person.

At Burntwood, they encourage young women to be articulate, thoughtful individuals who are able to express their opinions whilst also being able to listen to and consider the views of others. It is their view that girls benefit greatly from a single sex education where they are free to develop and mature without the pressures of the presence of boys. Of course, this is not necessarily the best choice for every young woman and Burntwood always recommend visiting a variety of styles of schools in order to compare and contrast and be secure that the school selected will best meet the needs of the young person. Whatever your choice of school, at Burntwood they wish you every success in supporting your child through this important transition. For more information, please visit www.burntwoodschool.com.

'The best education today for the women of tomorrow'

The Study Preparatory School, Wimbledon

The Study Prep School for girls aged 4-11 is celebrating its 125th anniversary this year and recently opened its doors to its alumnae at a wonderful celebration of the school. Girls from 1940 through to the present day enjoyed the festivities.

The school has come a long way since it was founded in 1893 by a governess who taught just a few girls in the study of a family home. Now a highly successful non-selective prep school on two beautiful sites bordering leafy Wimbledon Common, the school is renowned for its creativity, nurturing ethos, and superb academic results at 11+. No less than 39 scholarships were offered to its Year 6 girls this year, beating last year's all-time record of 35. To book a visit, please call 020 8947 6969 or visit www.thestudyprep.co.uk.

Graveney School

Graveney School are holding Open Mornings and an Open Evening for prospective Year 7 students on Wednesday 10 October, 9.30am–12.30pm and Thursday 11 October, 9.30am–12.30pm and 5.30–8.30pm.

At the Open Mornings and Evenings there will be an opportunity to see the school and pupils at work. The day will give students and their parents the opportunity to view the school's excellent facilities, visit subject departments and discuss courses with current pupils and staff.

Graveney School offers an excellent all round education to boys and girls aged 11-19. With an experienced and well qualified staff, they are able to combine high academic standards with a wide range of sports, musical and cultural extra-curricular activities as well as outstanding Information and Communication.

The school has been deemed 'Outstanding' by Ofsted on five occasions, most recently in 2015. They commented, "The quality of teaching and achievement of pupils is outstanding. Students have an absolute determination to succeed and be successful."

The school's overall attainment score places them in the top 10% of schools in the country. You'll find Graveney School on Welham Road, SW17 9BU. For more information, please email info@graveney.wandsworth.sch.uk or visit www.graveney.org.

La Retraite

La Retraite Roman Catholic Girls' School is an Ofsted 'outstanding' school for 11 to 19 year-olds, located in the heart of Lambeth. With a vibrant community, outstanding teaching and excellent facilities, La Retraite ensures students from all faiths have full access to a comprehensive education and a range of extra-curricular opportunities that inspire and enable them to reach their full potential.

La Retraite's mission as a Catholic School is to provide the highest possible standards of education for all students, recognising the value and uniqueness of everyone, delivered in the context of Gospel values and the teachings of the church. They aim to provide

Bright children with exceptional opportunities

All the fun of the fair: recent excitements for our littler children; a Mad Science workshop, a visit from farm animals, trips to local landmarks like the Museum of London & visits from several top authors.

'Newton combines knowledge of families with great space and facilities in which children are encouraged to be themselves. All the teachers understand my children, the management is open to fresh ideas and the school is big enough to handle variety.' Current parent

We can offer 100% Bursaries from Year 3 upwards for sparky children who might not otherwise be able to afford a fee-paying school.

Our Open Day is Saturday 13th October from 9.30am-12.30pm, but we also run more personal Headmistress's Tours most Fridays during term.

a safe place, where each and every student is nurtured to become capable, independent learners and tolerant, kind, thoughtful and responsible young people who realise that, with faith, all things are possible.

Exam results have consistently outperformed local and national averages, and school leavers have gone on to study at the finest institutions, including Oxford, Cambridge, Harvard and Russell Group universities. In 2017, at GCSE level, students made 'Well Above National Average' progress and 97% of A Level students went on to study at university.

Bursaries at King's College School

King's has a history of enabling bright young minds from every background to access the school. However, enabling a move from their state primary school to the new opportunities of an independent education in 20 acres of space, in the heart of Wimbledon, is about more than offering bursaries. It is about making the move right for each child.

The school's wish to appeal to the 92% of pupils in state primary schools, as well as boys in traditional prep schools, was the driving force behind opening their lower school for Years 7 and 8 in 2016. About half their lower school boys joined from primary schools, and they encourage any bright boy who would like to go to King's to feel that everyone at the school will do all they can to welcome him. Their pastoral care is nationally famed, while the range of drama, music, sport and other activities is incredibly exciting, meaning that although pupils do phenomenally well in public exams, this is not at the expense of their wider interests or their own humanity.

With many boys gaining bursarial support at 11 and 13, and girls (and boys) able to seek support with fees in the sixth form, it could be time to consider King's for your child. For more information, please visit www.kcs.org.uk.
